

CCWMC Code of Conduct

and

Hold Harmless

I agree to conduct myself as a Christian throughout the week as a guest in the Bond's home. By the grace of God, I will endeavor to love my neighbors--my fellow CCWMC writers, and will treat others with Christian love and respect. Should the Bond's need to ask me to do so, I agree to alter my speech, conduct, or clothing, without complaint, for the benefit of my fellow writers and brothers and sisters in Christ. In all ways and manners, I will cooperate with and support the literary, relational, theological, and spiritual objectives of the Bonds and CCWMC.

Furthermore, I have my own health and liability insurance and will hold the Bonds harmless should any injury, sickness, or death occur to me while participating in the CCWMC.
